

OGDEN CAVERN EXPLORED FOR LONG DISTANCE

Scoutmaster Says Beautiful
Formations Worth
Arduous Trip

Although for years and perhaps centuries, Ogden has had a large cave in its own back yard, it figuratively speaking, which winds through miles of rock and opens up into caverns filled with glistening stalactites, pillars and stalagmites, it was not until a few weeks ago that the cave really attracted interest.

Now, after the two exploration parties have brought to the attention of the city the beauties of the underground workings, many persons are planning trips through the long tunnels. Within the last two weeks two trips have been made to the cave by Charles E. Fish, scoutmaster, in charge of troop 26 of the Boy Scouts of Ogden, with several members of the troop.

WONDERFUL CARVINGS.

The wonderful workings and carvings of nature as explained by Mr. Fish and members of his party, present a sight which is intensely interesting and in future years it is probable that the cave will become one of the attractions of Ogden.

The cavern mouth opens into Garner's canyon, also known as Coldwater canyon, the first canyon south of North Ogden canyon, in the chain of mountains running north and south, east of Ogden. It can be reached by following through Garner's canyon to the first left-hand fork and following the fork to the cavern mouth, which would be seen on a ledge of rock about 20 feet above the canyon bottom. The entrance to the cavern is three feet by 18 inches which leads immediately into a grotto several feet in width and from eight to ten feet in height.

The second exploration trip was made into the cavern last Wednesday by Mr. Fish, who drew a map of the tunneling and explored many new passages and rooms which had not been entered during the first trip.

Outlining his last trip to the cave, Mr. Fish said:

"The cave has been named the 'Stalactite Cavern.' The second trip of last Wednesday continued six and one-half hours underground and every point which could be reached was penetrated.

EXPLORE FURTHER.

"We again explored the left hand fork of the cavern and succeeded in going 1500 feet farther than during the initial trip. One large room of about eight feet by 25 feet with a 20-foot ceiling was found. This room is about 20 feet below the main passage and one must lower himself with a rope to reach the floor. After entering this room a person can walk with ease on the floor for about 200 feet, when the passage becomes quite narrow and turns at right angles to the north. Here the cavern becomes the most beautiful of all points yet reached, for none of the stalactites have been broken and they become more numerous and form an amber color to pure white.

PENETRATE 400 FEET.

"We penetrated this point passage for 400 feet, when on account of the many stalactites at one point, we were unable to proceed further. It could be seen that the cavern continued at this point and opened up larger into a room massed with stalactites.

After making the right angle turn to the north, the air in the cavern seemed to grow warmer, and a steady light. The air had its effect upon the party, however, giving the same sensation as high altitudes.

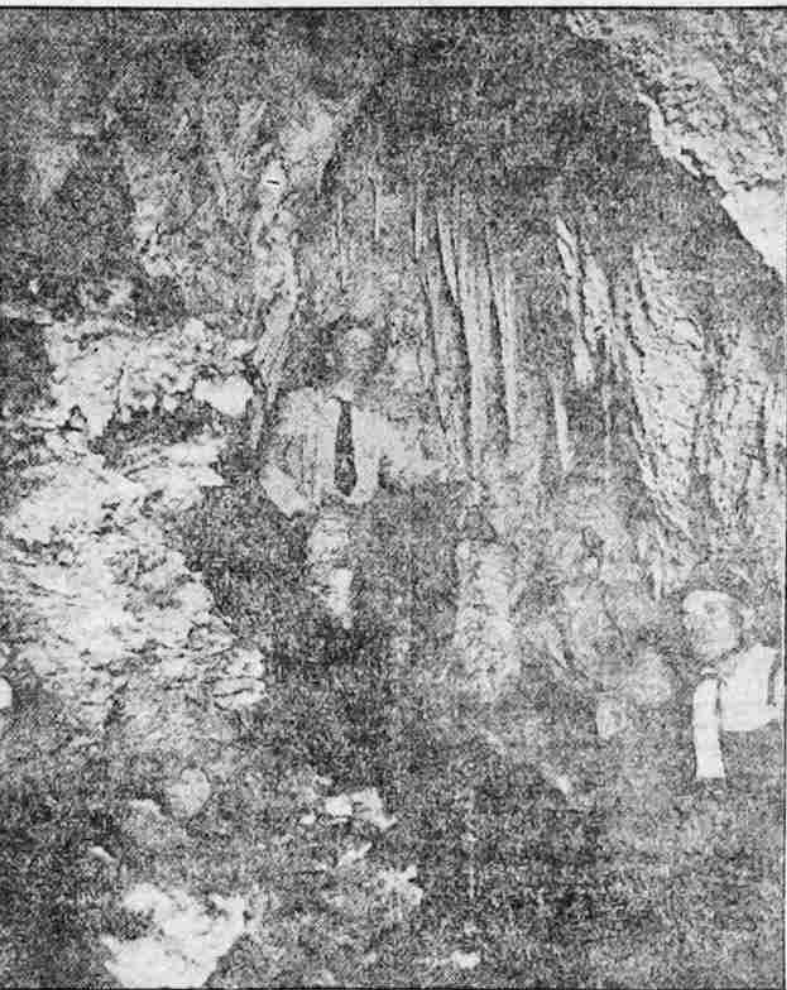

"At a number of points before reaching the end of the passage, a narrow person must walk sideways and at five points one must just slide

Three flashlight photographs showing the interior of the "Stalactite Cavern" in Garner's canyon, northeast of Ogden, the cave which has recently attracted much interest and is now being explored almost daily by Ogdenites.

The photo at the top, left, shows one of the cave grottoes where hundreds of glistening stalactites hang from the walls. Striking them with iron produces music similar to that of a deep-toned bell.

Below—One of the largest stalactites in the cavern. It has formed a large pillar reaching from the cavern floor to the ceiling.

PANTAGES TO OPEN THURSDAY

Feature Picture, Comedy,
News Weekly and Vaudeville Bill Offered

Pantages vaudeville will open at the Orpheum theatre next Thursday, August 31, under a new policy, it was announced yesterday by Manager J. F. Goss.

That the vaudeville patrons of Ogden will be pleased with the innovation is the belief of Manager Goss. Instead of offering just the vaudeville and a comedy or news weekly, a feature motion picture will be added, Mr. Goss said. Alexander's Grand Opera company will headline the vaudeville. There will be six acts.

There will be no reserved seats. Patrons of the Orpheum will be seated as they are during the all-motion picture shows, Mr. Goss said.

The picture show will open the bill on Thursday at 1 p. m. and similarly on the remaining days of the week during the vaudeville run.

Following the feature film there will be a news weekly and then a comedy. Then the vaudeville acts will begin. The first show will close shortly after 4:30 p. m. and the second show will begin immediately, about 4:45 p. m. with the feature picture, running to 7 p. m. The vaudeville will then follow with the news weekly and comedy next.

A third performance will begin about 9 p. m. with vaudeville. The feature picture to close the show.

This arrangement has been made, Manager Goss said, to permit the theatregoers to see a full show, after entering any time after 1 p. m. The patrons may come early and see the motion picture bill first, or enter the theatre later and witness the pictures following the vaudeville.

H. C. PETERSON IN RACE FOR SHERIFF

Herbert C. Peterson, former sheriff of Weber county, Saturday announced that he was a candidate for the nomination for sheriff at the Democratic county convention to be held in September.

along the top not being high enough to allow crawling upon hands and knees. At other points a person is in the top of a crevice that appears deep in the darkness, but is actually but 25 feet in depth. These places are dangerous for if a person would fall it would be a difficult undertaking to effect a rescue.

WATER ENCOUNTERED.

"When first entered the cave is damp, water drips from the rocks and in some places there are tiny streams causing the floors of the cavern to become muddy.

"At some points the cavern floor sounded hollow and the water seemed to seep through, but at no point an opening was found.

"The cave has a right and a left-hand fork, also a fork leading downward. The left and right hand forks were explored.

"If a party would take tools with them to break through the narrow passages, especially in the left hand fork, it is believed that the cave would be found larger, for the indications at the furthest point reached were that the passages were more numerous with perpendicular walls.

"The canyon in which the cave mouth is located is rugged and has about a 50 per cent grade. It is about a mile and a quarter from the road to the mouth.

"To make the cavern a scenic attraction several thousands of dollars would have to be spent to widen out the narrow passages.

"Several parties have entered the cave since the first exploration and have broken off some of the stalactites. Many stalactites can be found upon the cavern floors.

The temperature in the cave is about 58 degrees.

Mr. Fish advises those who attempt to explore the cavern to prepare for much exertion in crawling in and out of the passages. The exploration trip is more tiresome than a mountain hike, he said. Hiking clothing should be worn and electric flash lights carried.

TRUCK AND AUTO CRASH DOWNTOWN

A collision between a Ford truck, owned by Otto Lund, 339 Adams avenue, and driven by Ray Lund, and a Nash touring car, owned by Thomas J. Keeney, Jr., 2201 Lincoln avenue, driven by Orvel Williams, 15 years of age, occurred yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at the intersection of Hudson avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

According to Williams, as he approached the intersection from the west, he observed Lund approaching from the south apparently slowing down to allow him to pass. When within a short distance of the truck, Lund increased his speed. Williams said, and the crash occurred.

The drivers of the two machines escaped without injury. One headlight and the bumper of the Nash car were damaged, while the fender of the truck was damaged only slightly.

CAMPAIGN FOR COLTON BEGUN

Chairman John C. Davis to Start Trip Throughout
District

The Republican executive committee of the First Utah congressional district met yesterday at the office of Chairman John C. Davis in the Fred J. Kiesel building and made plans for an intensive campaign in behalf of Don Colton of Yernal, candidate to succeed himself as representative to congress.

Chairman Davis was authorized to make a campaign trip throughout the district and he expects to leave Wednesday.

A statement from Representative Colton was read at the meeting. In this statement the congressman sums up the Republican accomplishments and sets forth his plans with reference to Utah.

Campaign headquarters for Mr. Colton will be in Ogden.

Those in attendance at the meeting were: Chairman Davis, A. R. McIntyre, Webster, L. R. Anderson, Sanpete, W. M. Hall, Cuello, B. C. Call, Box Elder; Charles De Moysse, Uinta.

SHIPPERS PROTEST ROUTING TO PARK

SALT LAKE, Aug. 26.—Senator Reed Smoot in reply to a protest filed by the Traffic Service Bureau of Utah in behalf of the Commercial club and the Utah Manufacturers' association, states that immediate steps are to be taken to remove a condition which Utah merchants routing freight to Yellowstone park are forced to pay nearly double rates.

This is due to the intricate routing of the freight to Yellowstone park territory. It is estimated that this condition has cost merchants thousands of dollars this season paid in excess on supplies shipped to the hotels and settlements in the park.

All supplies shipped to the park must be delivered by railroad to Gardiner, Mont., making a haul of 608 miles by way of Butte from Salt Lake as compared with the distance of 328 miles to West Yellowstone, Mont., from Salt Lake. This because the Yellowstone Transportation company, responsible for all freighting of goods to the park, will not accept freight if delivered to the West Yellowstone or any other entrance but Gardiner.

CHEESMAN TO GO ON TRIAL

Ogden Auto Dealer to Face
Salt Lake Court
October 2

SALT LAKE, Aug. 26.—Walker Cheesman, Ogden automobile dealer, charged with involuntary manslaughter for the death of Dale Holt, 10 years of age, when the lad is alleged to have been run over by Cheesman's automobile last winter, will stand trial before Judge Ephraim Johnson, October 2. Cheesman is alleged to have run over the boy while the lad was coasting across Ninth South street, near Tenth East street.

The case against Peter Salerno, who was arrested Wednesday in connection with the dynamiting on lower Twenty-second street August 18, was heard Saturday afternoon in the city court. The felony charge, which had been previously placed against him, was changed to a misdemeanor on a motion of County Attorney David J. Wilson. Salerno pleaded guilty to the charge of transporting dynamite through the street, and was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and deep appreciation to our many friends for their sympathy, kindness and assistance during the illness and death of our beloved husband, son and brother. We thank the speakers, singers and those who sent the many floral offerings. Especially do we thank the county commissioners and the deputies of Claude's office.

One Habit that No One Regrets

GOOD PROOF there is—whether it's profitable to have a growing compound interest account here.

Just ask any of our depositors.

Then inquire of the spendthrift if he would not prefer a ready moneybank balance—always increasing—rather than nothing but regrets over money he's wasted.

There's your answer! Cultivate the bank habit. It helps you help yourself to life's worth-while things.

CARD OF THANKS

The J. S. Carver Grocery company wishes to thank the customers and creditors for the kindness and many favors shown up while closing our business. Mr. Carver will be at home at 539 Twenty-second street to any friends wishing to call.

A college boy got a job for the summer. He found himself a neighboring town without money.

On the strength of his father's good name, he was able to charge a $20 purchase.

At the bank he made a $5 draft on his father for railroad home.

The banker handed him the money and remarked, "Your name is good here for any reasonable amount."

His father said to him, "Son, it takes a long time to get a name. Pay that charge bill tomorrow. Pay all your debts promptly and start making a name for yourself."

Farr Better Coal Is Far The Best

When winter sends a bon or so of freezing, whirling snow—
Don't shiver and chill—
There's good comfort still—
In a fire of Farr Better Coal, you know!

Good clean coal is a cause for glee—
Keeps the kettles all clean—
From soot quite free—
No smoke on the walls,
No dirt on the appals,
For Farr Better Coal is far cleanest, you see!

A fire in a hurry? No trouble at all,
This coal doesn't flicker and stall—
It's soon alight,
And burning bright—
For Farr Better Coal's the best of all!

No trouble, no worry, no fret;
This coal is the very best yet—
Free-burning and clean—
'Twill clearly be seen
That Farr Better Coal's your best bet!
